

Spring Open Garden Clifton Hill House

The University of Bristol has made a successful bid to the Heritage Lottery Fund, for funding to help restore the garden at Clifton Hill House.

To celebrate, we've decided to open the garden to the public, so you can see it in all its springtime glory! This event is free of charge (donations welcomed)

Work has already begun in the garden, so whilst far from pristine, it offers a chance to see the restoration process in action, and to find out more about our plans. We hope that there will also be some pretty spring bulbs in evidence too.

The garden is open on Saturday 20th February
11am-3pm

Entrance is through the white wooden gate
on Lower Clifton Hill (see arrow on map)
